

FUNDS NEEDED TO CONTINUE WELFARE AID

Drive For Money Should Be Met With Generous Response

Plans have been completed for the Dixon Welfare Association-Salvation Army drive, under the chairmanship of former Postmaster W. F. Hogan, and a committee of ten have gone over the prospect list, assigning to each citizen thereon a suggested amount as their share toward Dixon's unfortunate families. A letter is being sent to each notifying him to this effect. Members of the executive committee will make their calls for subscriptions the week of June 8-13.

A meeting of the full executive committee has been called for 4 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce office when the teams will be given their cards and territory and receive final instructions.

Money Badly Needed

It is vitally necessary that funds are secured at once for the continued operation of the local welfare work. During this week 108 families applied for food at the welfare rooms. These are Dixon people. Your neighbors. Most of them are people who have never asked for help like this in all their lives. They have always been hard working, self-supporting self-respecting people. Many of them have only recently applied for aid. They have been out of work for months and months. Their savings and their credit has been exhausted. They have been forced to ask for help to keep from starving.

You will give generously, we know, to help provide food for your neighbor and his family.

Kenosha Girl Has Mad Whirl Of Love And Elopements

Chicago, June 6—(UP)—The former Miss Consuelo Stemm of Kenosha, Wis., was on her honeymoon today after being engaged to two men, eloping with both of them, and marrying one of them twice, all within 24 hours.

Miss Stemm's engagement to Edward Beneke, member of a wealthy Highland Park family, was announced two weeks ago. Thursday she eloped, but not with Beneke.

The winning suitor was Charles W. Allen, son of a Kenosha banker. They were married in Waukegan, the "Gretna Green" of Northern Illinois. Three hours later the bride told Beneke of the elopement. He fainted.

Beneke's grief was so great Mrs. Allen became fearful. She told him she would marry him, after all. They went to Crown Point, which is as much of a "Gretna Green" in Indiana as Waukegan is in Illinois.

At Crown Point, she and Beneke obtained a marriage license. They drove then to LaFayette, Ind., where Beneke's sister, Olga, lives. Olga persuaded them to return to their homes.

The Allens were married again last night at a church ceremony performed under a special dispensation from Archbishop Stretch of Milwaukee.

McErlane was found standing in the rain on a south side street corner. Smoke was curling from an automatic shotgun which he held in one hand. A revolver nestled in his other hand. Another shotgun lay at his feet. Police looked around for "the bodies," but there were none.

The officers theorized that McErlane had drunk too much, then gone "hunting" for enemies who recently riddled the home of his brother-in-law with machine gun bullets.

"And from his looks I expect he really thought he saw 'em," said Sgt. William Sanders after putting McErlane in a cell where the disheveled gangster went sound asleep immediately.

"Or maybe," Sanders added, "he was celebrating the much talked of downfall of his southside 'Buddy,' Al Capone."

FAMOUS TRIO IN DENIAL LINCOLN HAD LOW NATURE

Miss Tarbell Blames Critics Own Obscenity For Coloring

New York, June 6—(AP)—A woman biographer, a German historian and a psychiatrist, all widely known, were on record today as opposed to Dr. A. A. Brill's theory that Abraham Lincoln was a "schizoid-maniac" personality.

Dr. Brill's contention that Lincoln was a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde type who succeeded in keeping his baser nature under rigid control was disputed by Ida M. Tarbell, Emil Ludwig and Dr. L. Pierce Clark.

Miss Tarbell said she never has been able to trace to Lincoln any story that could not be repeated to decedent-minded persons. Dr. Brill claims Lincoln had a low taste in humor which descended to the obscene.

Dr. Brill expressed his views in a paper which he delivered before a joint session of the American Psychoanalytic and American Psychiatric Associations in Toronto, Ontario, recently.

"I have sometimes suspected," said Miss Tarbell, "that those who insist on his (Lincoln's) grossness might have been finding what they looked for—and enjoyed—that it was their obscenity rather than his that was behind the story."

Emil Ludwig, in a radio address, said the spirit of Lincoln was the "most beautiful" of the fathers of America he had studied.

"I saw men of all centuries and many nations," Ludwig declared, "none of them, however, touched my heart from the human point of view as much as Lincoln."

Dr. Brill maintains Lincoln failed to grasp realities.

"Who had a firmer grasp upon eternal verities of the issues at stake during the Civil War?" Dr. Clark asked.

At Atlanta Dr. Newdigate Owensby of Atlanta a member of the Board of Councillors of the American Psychology Association, said he "thoroughly concurred" with Dr. Brill.

New York, June 6—(UP)—Hugh Herndon, Jr., and Clyde Pangborn expect to start their flight around the world within 10 days, they told the United Press today.

The first part of the trip will be a non stop flight to Moscow, they said.

GRADUATES FROM D. H. S. RECEIVED THEIR DIPLOMAS

Commencement Exercises Held At Assembly Park Last Eve

By DONALD HILLIKER

The 1931 graduating exercises of the Dixon high school were held last evening at the Assembly Park Auditorium. The heavy rain at the close of the program created some confusion among those present in attempting to leave the park.

The invocation was given by Rev. B. C. Whitmore. Following this the girls' glee club, under the direction of Miss Lawson, sang "Merry June," which was greatly enjoyed.

Robert Kennedy gave an excellent talk on "Aviation and Its Future." He traced the history of the airplane from its beginning to the present stage.

The next oration was given by Myra Allen Warner. The title of her talk was "Types of Education." She cited the different kinds of education pointing out their advantages and disadvantages.

The boys' glee club followed on the program with a fine piece of work, the "Song of the Vikings."

The speaker of the evening was introduced by Superintendent I. B. Potter. Dr. Jesse H. White, President James Milliken University of Decatur, Illinois and former head of Department of Psychology, University of Pittsburgh gave the address on "Accountability." He expressed his ideas as to the characteristics needed in a boy or girl to be a success. He cited many examples of boys and girls who lack one of these traits and therefore are failures. His talk was greatly appreciated by the audience.

Mr. Potter then presented diplomas to the 138 members of the senior class.

Closing the program was the benediction which was given by Rev. W. W. Marshall.

Members of the class were:

Capone, Indicted By U. S., Surrenders

Scarface Al Capone, the nation's premier hoodlum, again appeared in court in Chicago when he surrendered to post $50,000 bonds to guarantee his appearance for trial on indictments returned by a federal grand jury in Chicago on income tax charges has been convicted, and it is reported that Capone may bargain for a short but is free pending an appeal. This photo shows Al Capone signing his bond after surrendering to federal authorities in Chicago on the income tax charge.

THINK CAPONE IS SLATED FOR TERM BEHIND THE BARS

Greatest Gang Chief Believed To Be Securely Caught This Time

New Indictment?

Washington, June 6—(UP)—Indictment of Al Capone, Chicago gang leader, on charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, thus striking directly at his far-flung bootleg racket, is expected to follow the federal government's first blow in securing indictment for alleged income tax law violations.

Government agents, it was learned today, gathered a mass of evidence about the gangster's liquor operations in the investigation which brought his indictment yesterday at Chicago on charges of 22 liquor tax law violations.

Officials believe a successful move against the giant liquor racket which the chunky little Italian has built up on top of the income tax move, would wipe out the organized bootleg ring which has made him known from coast to coast.

The indictment on the liquor charges is expected momentarily, the United Press learned.

Capone, according to word from Chicago, is to plead guilty to the income tax law violations, and thus will be in the hands of the government. Undoubtedly he knows that the government has on him and is ready to end the amazing career that has to go back to the days of the early wild west for a parallel.

Chicago, June 6—(UP)—The indictment and surrender of Scarface Capone on charges of evading income tax payments was hailed today throughout Chicago as marking definitely the downfall of the most powerful and elusive gang chieftain in local or American history.

Federal, state and city officials, as well as all newspapers, agreed that Capone's chances of escaping conviction and imprisonment were slight. Such predictions were based upon the record of United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson, who brought about Capone's indictment after three years of work during which many lesser gangsters were captured and many still destroyed and in which as many as 50 government agents engaged at times.

Capone's surrender came late yesterday, the ninth gangster indicted. Johnson has been successful in his prosecution of the previous eight. It was considered safe to predict he would be successful in the ninth.

Gave $50,000 Bond.
Capone's surrender came late yesterday, three hours after indictment against him were made public. He was accompanied to the U. S. Marshall's office by his attorneys.

A surety bond for $50,000 to cover the amount previously set, preceded him. He was in the office only a short time, signed his bonds, then disappeared again into the underworld which he had controlled for several years.

The two indictments, one of which was voted in March and kept secret, charged that Capone owed the government $215,080.48 on a total income of $1,038,654.84 during the years 1924 to 1929, inclusive.

No pretense was made that this was Capone's total income for those years. It represented instead the amounts which Johnson and his staff said they knew they could prove he had earned. The gangster never has paid any income tax. Looting officials said, because he dealt always in cash and kept no bank accounts. The voluminous indictments did not specify that any of the income designated had been derived from the extensive liquor or vice syndicates Capone is said to have controlled, and from which it was said he made millions annually.

Court To Name Two Doctors To Examine Fall's Condition

Washington, June 6—(AP)—Albert B. Fall is to be examined soon by two physicians appointed by a District of Columbia Supreme Court judge to determine whether he is able to come to Washington to begin a term of a year in prison.

Chief Justice Wheat is to make the appointments as early as possible. The examination of the former Interior Secretary is to take place in El Paso, Texas.

Yesterday Judge Wheat designated Drs. Felix Miller and R. B. Hoogen of El Paso, to examine the former Harding cabinet member, but quatered the order upon learning they previously had expressed the opinion Fall was in no condition to undertake the trip.

Fall was convicted of accepting a $100,000 bribe from Edward L. Doheny, wealthy oil man, in leasing government petroleum reserves. He was sentenced to a year in jail and to pay a $100,000 fine. The Supreme Court refused to review the conviction and a mandate, ordering execution of the sentence, has been handed down.

Pure Food Service Submits A Report

Springfield, Ill., June 6—(UP)—Progress that has been made in the pure food service in Illinois during the past thirty years was revealed today in a report that Stuart E. Pierson, Director of the State Department of Agriculture, received from Perry B. McCullough, superintendent of the division of foods and dairies.

Superintendent McCullough has investigated records of the division heads, and of its antecedents, to the year of 1900, in which Judge A. Hanby Jones began his long career as Illinois' first food commissioner.

The records for the year of 1900 show that Judge Jones had a staff of 9 employees. There are 85 inspectors, chemists and office employees in the division of foods and dairies now. Salaries and expenditures for this branch of state service have increased from $18,823.97 in the first year of the century to $228,773.32 during the past fiscal year. Within the 12 months last reported, license fees and fines collected by the division of foods and dairies totaled $99,825.96—almost 44 per cent of the expenditures.

In 1930, the commissioner collected and analyzed 712 samples of food. They found 412 illegal and 33 prosecutions resulted. During the past fiscal year the division inspected 125,613 food samples of which 2,703 were found illegal.

Funeral Directors Had Fine Meeting

Mrs. Cella A. Jones has returned from Peoria where she attended the annual convention of the Illinois Funeral Directors and Embalmers Association, a three-day session which ended Thursday evening.

Problems confronting the convention included further upward revision of the standards of the profession and future developments in modern funeral directing. Latest advances in restorative art were outlined by S. Chatwood Britton, professor of fine arts and architecture of the University of Minnesota; and speakers included Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom, Sheldon Howard, registrar of vital statistics; Walter Julian, coroner of Winnebago county, and others.

The secretary of the association, S. Elizabeth Kilpatrick declared that the majority of the newspapers of the state are cooperating with the association in efforts to improve the terminology of the profession. The obsolete term "undertaker" is being rapidly replaced by the modern term "funeral director," while caskets are no longer referred to as "coffins."

More than 60,000 persons applied for jobs as bus drivers in London recently. Of this number only 1023 were accepted.

PAPAL NUNCIO IS EXPELLED BY THE LITHUANIAN GOVT.

Political Activities Given As Reason For Expulsion

Kovno, Lithuania, June 6—(UP)—The Lithuanian government expelled the Papal Nuncio, Riccardo Bartoloni today.

Bartoloni departed by automobile at 1:20 P. M.

He was expelled, it was announced, because he allegedly had collaborated with activities of the anti-government party.

The government informed both the Nuncio and the Vatican that Bartoloni no longer was considered a representative of the Holy See, and that henceforth he would be persona non grata.

Bartoloni had been Papal Nuncio to Lithuania for three years.

STILL NEGOTIATING
Rome, June 6—(UP)—Despite publication of a conciliatory article by Arnaldo Mussolini, brother of the Premier, which many interpreted as offering peace overtures in the Italo-Vatican controversy, it was indicated today that the hoped-for easy solution of the trouble has not at hand.

The Vatican's answer, published today in the official Osservatore Romano, was couched in sarcastic terms and it once more disturbed the situation.

When the government learned of Osservatore's comment it immediately ordered all Italian newspapers not to copy the inspired Mussolini article, which appeared yesterday in his Milan newspaper Popolo D' Italia and deplored the recent "excessive demonstrations" by young Fascists against the Catholic church and the Pope.

It was admitted in Vatican City this morning that while negotiations are proceeding, they have been persistently laborious, tending to delay a definite solution.

"Don't look for an immediate solution. These negotiations will continue for some time, and in that there is hope."

The office of the secretary of state described the situation as unchanged.

POPE IN ADDRESS

Vatican City, June 6—(UP)—God is with the Vatican in the present controversy with Italy, the Pope said today in addressing 80 members of the Milan Workmen's Recreation Association.

"We are undergoing great tribulations, of which the whole world is aware," said the Pope. "Nevertheless these are accompanied by great consolations."

Messages have come from all over the world containing filial expressions of gratitude and sympathy, he went on, saying:

"It seems to everyone that we are fighting a battle for liberty of conscience and the good of all souls. This constitutes the greatest solace to us in the sorrowful hours of these past days."

"Big Earl" Gets Life For Bonner Murder

Chicago, June 6—(AP)—"Big Earl" Herbert, reputed henchman of "Joe" Santis, was convicted on a charge of murder by a jury last night and his punishment was fixed at life imprisonment. Herbert was charged with fatally shooting Thomas Bonner, formerly of Paxton, Ill., an alleged police informer, last July.

Bristol, Va.—(UP)—A small dog, maddened with pain after being struck by a car, dashed into a building here, precipitating the cry of "mad dog." Women fainted and men rushed for cover. One woman returned with a revolver but the injured dog had returned to sanity and the scare was over. The dog was allowed to go unharmed.

Richardson was called to Nelson Friday evening in response to a telephone call from Rochelle that a man, beating his way on a Northwestern freight train, had reported to the Rochelle police that he had been robbed of his suitcase by two Negro tramps, who had detained at Nelson. The Sheriff found the two colored men in the yards there but failed to find the allegedly stolen suit case.

Jury Disagrees In O'Rork Murder Case; He Claims Suicide

Valparaiso, Ind., June 6—(AP)—A jury disagreed today after deliberating 19 hours in the trial of John O'Rork, Pontiac, Ill., salesman, charged with the murder of his former wife, Miss Frances Brown of Chicago, on a highway east of Gary, Ind., last October 31.

Judge Grant Crumpacker of Porter county circuit court discharged the jury when foreman A. W. McDaniels reported it was hopelessly deadlocked.

Rork claimed he called for his former wife when she finished work in Chicago and they drove into Indiana to execute a suicide agreement. She died of gunshot wounds. He survived two shots in the chest. It is probable a new trial will be sought.

ROADHOUSES RAIDED.

Chicago, June 6—(UP)—Federal prohibition agents reported today they had raided six roadhouses during the night, confiscated small quantities of liquor and arrested eight persons.

The places raided were the Silver Tavern and Avenue Tavern both in Villa Park, Sunbrite Tavern at Morton Grove, the Club at Glenview, and Alf's saloon. The owners of the roadhouses were arrested. One of them was Mrs. Rose Fegler, proprietress of the Avenue Tavern.

CHINESE STUDENTS

WILL SCRUB FLOORS
Peiking—(UP)—The education commissioner of Honan province, Li Ching-tai, has issued an order that students in governmental schools must hereafter do the janitor work in their schools, to cut down expenses according to the Chinese press here.

This is new departure for China, where students have traditionally not been expected to do work with their hands.

Mr. Li said that educational funds are very low, and students should be glad to help make it possible for every student who so desires to get an education. So they are requested to wash floors and water gardens in the schools.

REACH LIMIT OF PRIVATION SAY GERMANS

Official Manifesto Declares Young Plan a Failure

By FREDERICK KUEHL
United Press Staff Correspondent.

Berlin, June 6—(UP)—The government's first official pronouncement that the Young plan must be revised was issued today.

A manifesto, supplementing President Paul Von Hindenburg's dictatorial decree drastically reducing government expenditures, declared that the reparations can no longer be paid out of foreign loans, as heretofore.

The presidential decree provided that the Reich's railways finance a gigantic project calling for the expenditure of 200,000,000 marks (about $50,000,000). It was estimated that this would help relieve unemployment, providing jobs for 120,000 persons.

The government, in a broad move to counteract the sharp salary reductions provided for in the decree, will introduce a 44-hour week in all its own workshops in the railways. This was expected to offer employment to thousands.

Power to impose a 40-hour week in private industrial concerns also was provided in the momentous decree. However, the United Press understood the president does not intend to use this power at present.

The manifesto, regarded as one of the most vital documents issued since the close of the World War, called for reduction of the reparations payments. A salient passage said:

"We have done our utmost to meet the obligations arising from the lost war. To this end, we also took extensive advantage of foreign help."

Limit Has Been Reached.
"This no longer is possible. Harnessing all our forces and reserves of the entire population gives the German government the right and obliges it to proclaim to the world: 'The limit of the privations we can impose on our people has been reached.'"

The manifesto said the benefits which the Young plan, signed in May a year ago, had been expected to bring Germany had "failed to materialize."

"The assumption on which the Young plan was created have proved false, owing to world developments. The alleviations which the Young plan intended and promised to bring to the German people have failed to materialize."

"The government now is aware that the extremely menaced economic and financial position of the Reich imperatively commands relief for Germany from the intolerable reparations burdens. The world's economic recovery also depends on this relief."

ENGLAND WELCOMES GERMANS.
London, June 6—(AP)—Germany's envoys of cooperation, Chancellor Heinrich Brüning and foreign minister Gustav Stresemann, were well pleased with England's welcome to the conference with British officials on the problem of war reparations. They left for chequers today to confer with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald.

After a reception at the foreign office they said their first day in London was "eminently satisfactory" and had proved to them that England was Germany's friend. Prime Minister MacDonald presided, offering toasts to King George, and President Von Hindenburg. Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson and other cabinet ministers entertained them.

In Germany this conference is being watched with keenest interest but to England it has paled into comparative insignificance in view of yesterday's report by the British unemployment commission recommending reductions in the dole.

That report has created what probably will be a serious situation within Mr. MacDonald's own country, for the left wing laborites already have served notice that they will oppose it vigorously.

The German visitors feel, therefore, that the time for the chequers meeting is not so auspicious as it seemed only a few days ago. Both Chancellor Brüning and Herr Curtius realized that Mr. MacDonald, in the face of his troubles at home, will be exceedingly careful in committing himself on international questions, and that they will need all their eloquence to make their English colleagues understand Germany's need for sympathetic attention in these critical times at home.

"WHAT IS THAT, MOTHER?"

By George Washington Doane
"What is that, mother?"
"The lark, my child;
The morning had just looked out and smiled
When he starts from his humble grassy nest,
And is up and away with
the dew on his breast.
And a hymn in his heart to yon
pure bright sphere,
To warble it into his Maker's ear.
Ever, my child, be thy morn's first tuned, like the lark's to thy Maker's praise."

"What is that, mother?"
"The dove, my son!
And the low, sweet voice, like a widow moan,
Is flowing out from gentle breast,
Constant and pure by that lowly nest,
As the wave is poured from some crystal urn
For her distant dear one's quick return.

Ever, my son, be like the dove—
In friendship as faithful, as constant in love."

"What is that, mother?"
"The eagle, boy,
Proudly careening his course with joy,
Firm on his own mountain vigor relying,
Breasting the dark stream, the red hot defying,
His wing on the wind, and his eye
on the sun,
He sweeps not a hair, but bears onward, right on.
Boy, may the eagle's flight ever be thine—
Onward and upward, and true to the line."

"What is that, mother?"
"The swan, my love
He is floating down from his native
grove;
No loved one now, no nesting nigh,
He is floating down by himself to die.
Death darkens his eye and unplumes
his wings,
Yet, the sweetest song is the last
he sings,
Live so, my child, that when death
shall come,
Swan-like and sweet it may wait
the home."

Miss Lucia Dement
Lectures Monday at Dixon High School

On Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Music room at the Dixon High School a lecture will be given by Miss Lucia Dement under the auspices of the High School Parent Teachers Association. Miss Dement's subject Monday afternoon will be Japanese Art. She has a number of interesting and beautiful slides from the New York Museum illustrating her lecture which will be well worth the small price of admission. Miss Dement is on a tour visiting the various school systems and after visiting schools in Memphis, Tenn., lectures in Springfield, Ill.,
the Illinois State Journal of May 28th having the following to say of her work in that city:

WORK OF ART GROUP
Miss Lucia Dement, lecturer on Oriental art in the teachers' college of Columbia University, New York City, who is a daughter of a former secretary of the state of Illinois, greeted many of her girlhood friends
when she spoke at Edwards Place yesterday afternoon.

In her talk Miss Dement recalled
some of the interesting incidents that took place in the old Edwards Place mansion. She congratulated the Springfield Art association on the work it is doing for the community and said that she felt that there was a greater need for more organizations throughout the country such as the Springfield Art Association rather than the enlargement of the already large museums in the large cities. She also advocates the education of children in art appreciation and feels that this organization plus work with the public schools is of vital importance.

In her talk on "Oriental Art" Miss Dement illustrated her points with slides she uses in teaching at Columbia university. She spoke of the of the Conell collection and said she considered some of the collection comparable with the best in any museum. "Springfield is particularly favored in having this wonderful collection," she said. Miss Anna May Price introduced the speaker.

At the close of the program, the Misses Helen and Eliza Conell were hostesses at tea. Miss Mary Lewis and Mrs. Elmer Perry poured and were assisted in serving by the Misses Katherine White, Virginia Brown,
Virginia Prince, Frances Summers,
Eleanor Crook and Mesdames Thomas Masters, Langdon Robinson and George Bunn, Jr.

MISS DEMENT IS REGISTERED AT NACHUSA TAVERN

Miss Lucia Dement, instructor in City, on a tour of the middle west

tures on Art as a general and specialized subject, also, will lecture

School under the auspices of the High School Parent Teachers Association on Japanese Art. Miss Dement who is the daughter of the late Col. and Mrs. Henry Dement, former gistered at the Tavern and is happy to again greet old friends.

Wawokiye Club In Meeting Wednesday

The Wawokiye Club held an all day meeting Wednesday, June 3rd, at the home of Mrs. Scott Lowery.

The home was prettily decorated with garden flowers.

Twenty-two members and friends were present for the picnic dinner at noon.

The annual picnic was discussed at the business meeting. A date for the picnic was set far enough in advance so that every one might keep that day free from other engagements as a good attendance is always desired for the occasion. The hostess provided a most enjoyable program for the entertainments of those present.

The program was as follows:
Piano selection—Mrs. Herbert Warner.

A Reading—Mrs. Edward Johnson
A Solo—Louise Hintz
Piano selection—Betty Lowery

Hintz.

ner.

with expressions of thanks to Mrs.
Lowery for a most enjoyable meeting.

club will be held in Grand Detour,
June 17 with a picnic dinner.

Japanese Working
Girls Afford Silk

Osaka, Japan.—(AP)—World depression is responsible for providing Japanese working girls a luxury never dreamed of a few months back.

Silk has become so cheap here that young women of the factories and even of the peasant class now wear silk garments every day in the week.

It is almost as cheap as cotton.
For about $1.50, a Japanese girl may purchase enough silk to make herself a kimono, whereas a few years ago the same material would have cost her three or four times as much.

A "haori," or native coat, which sells like hot cakes when tourist parties come to Japan, costs a Japanese girl only $1 or so at the little side street shops far from the fashionable hotels where the dealers pay high rents.

Charles Hunt Celebrates Birthday

Charles Hunt, formerly of Franklin Grove now residing at 318 East McKinney street, celebrated his fifty-sixth birthday anniversary Friday, and a group of relatives and a few intimate friends, numbering about fourteen, gathered at his home to assist him in making the day an enjoyable one.

A delicious dinner was served at noon, including strawberry short-cake, etc. The home was beautifully decorated with flowers for the occasion. The time was enjoyably spent in music and games and as the guests departed at the close of the day, they all joined in best wishes for future happy birthdays for Mr.
Hunt.

DANGER OF BEING BORED.
The greatest danger that confronts civilized man these days is the danger of being bored. So says Dr. Louis J. Karnosh, psychiatrist at Western Reserve University, who finds that the mechanized life of the modern world has made nervousness almost a universal complaint.

Because of the machines that man has built to do his work for him, says Dr. Karnosh, he finds himself too often with no adequate outlet for his emotions and his energies. He is too safe, his wants are too easily satisfied. As the psychiatrist remarks:

"To have a rich vitality and have nothing to apply it to; to have no dire need, never to miss or never to have the opportunity to yearn, is the worst form of emotional anemia and starvation. There is no luster to life, no uncertainty, no adventure around the corner."

Made too secure by the perfection of our mechanical contrivances, we try to find, in poor substitutes, the excitement that our ancestors found in direct action. We turn to novels for the thrill that the savage gets out of the hunt, we go to the movies for the excitement that our early ancestors found in war, and we make the baseball game, the prize fight or the automobile ride take the place of the healthy fears and desires of primitive man; and, all in all, it is not in the least good for us.

Thus, says Dr. Karnosh, we live under a nervous strain. The sameness of the daily routine, the monotony of the mechanized job, are driving us almost to distraction. We are rapidly losing our mental health because—in the strictly material sense—we have become too civilized.

No man who has lived in the modern world will question this psychiatrist's conclusions. Thinkers have been crying the dangers of the mechanical era for a decade. The question today is, What are we going to do about it?

The chief thing, probably, is to reduce the amount of work that each man has to do. The shorter working day, seen from this angle, is not merely a pleasant dream of the labor organizers; it is a pressing necessity, both for the manual worker and for the office employee. If we are to retain the old zest in life, the old feeling of satisfaction and happiness, we must radically cut down the time that each man has to give to his job. There is no other way out.

A mechanized era can do great things for the race. It can set men free, can enable them to rove widely and devote long hours to lazy enjoyment of the pleasure of the moment. But it will not do those things unless we listen to men like Dr. Karnosh, and realize that our present method of approach is all wrong.

FEDERAL PATERNALISM.

A tendency in government, regarded by many as dangerous, is now claiming the attention of those interested in public affairs. It is the gradual development of federal paternalism with a consequent lessening of power of the states. It is a medieval idea, detrimental to both national and state governments.

Already it has been proposed that the federal government collect most of the taxes and return part of them to the several states. Only recently the federal authorities have stepped into the Chicago picture, to punish gangsters who have laughed at city and state officials. There are pleadings for federal aid in this or that.

The idea of a strong central government is sound. But if it becomes so strong that it destroys the initiative and self-reliance of the states, there is danger ahead. Calvin Coolidge warned of the tendency seven years ago. He who doesn't clean up his own backyard isn't likely to care much about how the public street looks. So is it with the states.

HIS NAME IS "REMARQUE."

Publication of the book, "The Road Back," by the author of "All Quiet on the Western Front," reminds one of a curious story that has grown up about the author during the last two years.

The author, as everyone knows, is Erich Maria Remarque. But it has been said repeatedly that the man's real name is Kramer, and that Remarque is only a nom de plume made by reversing the spelling of Kramer and substituting a "que" for the final "k."

Now Mr. Remarque himself tells about it, as follows: "My name is not 'Kramer'; that is a fairy tale invented by some German militarists and disseminated in the press. My name is Remarque; that has been the name of my family for hundreds of years. No one in our family was ever called 'Kramer'; that is pure invention."

Which, it seems to us, ought to settle the matter for good.

The surrender to industrialism—in itself a too early confession of the defeat of the individual—implies the subservience of man not only to things, but to things he has made without love, uses without thought, and destroys without compunction.—Louis Untermeyer.

"Easy pickings," as the ukulele expert says.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Jap tea pickers sat around quite comfortably upon the ground and filled the big containers full of tea leaves. Scouty cried, "Gee, can I help you fellows pick? It doesn't seem it's any trick." And then he rushed right up and sat down by one picker's side.

The picker smiled and pointed to a big container, saying, "You can fill that one, my little friend. We're glad to have your aid." "Come on," Cried Scouty, "Everyone can lend a hand and have some fun. It isn't very hard work, so you needn't be afraid."

So all the Tinies turned right in. The Travel Man soon spread a grin and shouted, "You go at that work as if it were just play. It's fine to see you help a bit, 'cause working keeps you feeling fit. But kindly hurry up, boys, 'cause we can't stay here all day."

They rushed along and soon had filled a big container. They were thrilled when one Jap picker handed them some coins and said, "I'll pay you kids for work that you've done fine." "For candy I will soon spend mine," cried Clowny. Then the Tinymites were once more on their way.

Soon Mister Travel Man said "Stop! We'll visit in this little shop. It's where they make fine lanterns that you've often seen before. To watch the man will be real fun. I see him now. He's painting one. And, all around his shelves I'm sure he has a lot in store."

They walked in, shouting, "Howdy do!" The man said, "Welcome, all of you. Just make yourselves at home, we kids. I shortly will be through. And then I'll show you 'round my place. A smile spread on each Tiny's face. They watched the man do one big lantern with a brilliant blue. (Copyright, 1931, NEA Service, Inc.) (The Tinymites do some painting in the next story.)

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

U. S. FLEET IN FRANCE

On June 6, 1917, the French Minister of Marine announced that American warships had anchored off the French coast. The same day the flotilla of American destroyers under Rear Admiral Sims, who had been promoted to the rank of Vice Admiral, completed the first month of war service. On June 19, it was announced that Admiral Sims had been appointed by the British Admiralty to take charge of the allied naval forces in Irish waters during the absence of the British naval commander-in-chief.

This day also commemorates the British attack on the Arras line from Rouex to Gavrelle in which they succeeded in carrying German positions on a front of about a mile on the western slopes of Greenland hill, north of the Scarpe. The Germans, attacking on the Aisne, made small gains at Bray-en-Lanols.

ROCHELLE NEWS

Rochelle — Twenty-five local girls between the ages of eight and eighteen are expected to attend the Camp Fire Girls camp at Camp Rotary July 6th to 20th. Camp Fire Guardian Garland Lind is busy receiving applications. The tuition for a week for each girl is $6.50. The dates of the camps are July 6-13 for girls of ages 8 to 11, and July 13-20 for girls of ages 12 to 18. The girls will meet at the Y. W. C. A. in Rockford at 9 o'clock the morning camp opens. This is the tenth season of the camp and it is expected to be the greatest.

This year, because of the economic depression, the camp period has been shortened—seven days instead of the usual ten days. Every care is taken to guard the health and happiness of the daughters attending. A graduate Red Cross nurse is in charge at all times. Water and toilet facilities are under the supervision of the board of health. A new filter system has been installed at the pool

Despite a recent injury, Babe Ruth is in the game every day, fielding well, and, as usual, providing thrills. He went to bat against St. Louis yesterday with his team a run behind in the ninth inning and the tying counter on base, and drove one of Sammy Gray's offerings right into the right field bleachers at the Yankee Stadium for a home run that won the game for the Yankees 8 to 7. Then he led a parade around the bases while the fans poured out of the stands to follow him. The homer gave him a tie with Mickey Cochrane for the major league batting leadership with a .397 average.

Washington lost a tough one to the Detroit Tigers and George Uhle 1 to 0 in eleven innings. Pitching the entire distance in a duel with Sam Jones, Uhle gave only five hits and not a walk. Jones also pitched a five hit game but in the eleventh, a hit batsman, a sacrifice, an infield out and single produced a run for Detroit.

The champion Philadelphia Athletics also played an extra inning game, losing to Chicago 7-5. Lou Fonseca hit a homer in the twelfth and the Sox followed it up with another run. Boston halted Cleveland's winning streak after ten games in the fourth American League contest, winning 4 to 3 with an early attack on Willis Hudlin.

The first and second place teams of the National League, St. Louis and New York, provided the leading struggle of the elder circuit, battling back and fourth for ten innings before the Cardinals won out 8 to 7 and increased their lead to 3 1/2 games.

The scrap for third place became even closer as the Boston Braves advance a game on Chicago. The Robins took advantage of Cub misplays and their own six hit pitching by Phelps and Quinn to beat Chicago while the Braves shut out Pittsburgh 4 to 0. Boston got only five hits to the Pirates six off Tom Zachary but found a weak spot in the Pittsburgh defense last scored three runs in the eighth inning.

The Cincinnati Reds put together their second three-game winning streak of the year by trouncing the Phillies for the third successive time 9 to 2. Silas Johnson, who has pitched four of the Reds' victories, held the Phils to seven hits.

SPORT BRIEFS

New York, June 6—(UP)—The scheduled ten round bout between Victorio Campolo and Roberto Roberti at Madison Square Garden Thursday night has been postponed. Garden officials decided yesterday to postpone the fight when Roberti was unable to get out of a match at Newark, N. J., Tuesday night.

Galveston, Texas, June 6—(UP)—Unle Moore of the San Antonio Club of the Texas League pitched a no-hit, no-run game last night as his team defeated Galveston, 3 to 0.

Moore almost failed in the ninth to set up the record which always has been the ambition of every league pitcher. He allowed a base on balls, the only one he gave during the game, and two errors in succession by his teammates filled the bases. He retired the next three batters in order.

In setting up his record, Moore struck out four.

London, June 6—(UP)—Bert Hodson of Chiswell accepted today an invitation to fill the tenth place on the British Ryder Cup team. The selection was a popular one with golf critics who had campaigned for his choice. Surprise was expressed when Hodson was not named for the squad at the conclusion of the Dunlop-Southport tournament. At that time two of the remaining three places were filled.

The ten members of the squad are Archie Compston, W. H. Davies, Herbert Charles Jolly, Charles A. Whitcombe, Abe Mitchell, Fred Robson, Ernest R. Whitcombe, George Duncan, Syd Easterbrook and Hodson.

When In Wis. Be Sure Your Watch Is Right

Madison, Wis., June 5—(UP)—The state legislature today passed a bill prohibiting the use of any other than standard time in Wisconsin and providing fines of $25 to $500 or jail terms of 10 to 30 days for violations. Use of daylight savings time is forbidden. The state Senate concurred with the House today in passing the bill, which now awaits the signature of Gov. Philip LaFollette.

The measure was introduced in the legislature by Assemblyman Geo. Hampel, a Socialist from Milwaukee.

FEW OUTSTANDING ATTRACIONS FOR FISTICUFF SPORTS

Boxing Appears Doomed For Quietest Summer Season Of Years

By DIXON STEWART
United Press Staff Correspondent

New York, June 6—(UP)—With few outstanding attractions available and fans showing little interest in the "run-of-mine" type of shows, boxing appeared today to be destined for the quietest summer season of recent years.

Not a single worthwhile outdoor bout is carded in the metropolitan area and it is likely that the Schmeling-Stribling championship at Cleveland, July 3, Jack Dempsey's 20-rounder between Paulino and Baer at Reno, July 4, and the proposed New York bout between the Schmeling-Stribling winner and Primo Carnera will furnish the summer's major promotion.

James (Joy) Johnston is offering a bout between Carnera and one Fat Redmond of Ireland at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn June 10 as a substitute for his proposed Carnera-Jack Sharkey contest but this attraction fails to excite the interest of even the most credulous followers of boxing. Redmond, 235-pound Irishman of questioned courage and little ability, is expected to do little except provide another "dry tank" victory for Carnera.

Madison Square Garden has a court injunction restraining Carnera from meeting any "major" opponents, but does not rate Redmond in this classification and has made no attempt to halt the bout. Apparently the Garden prefers to see their promotional rival stage the bout, with its almost certain financial loss.

No Outdoor Plans

The Garden has made no plans for outdoor shows although it holds exclusive contracts for both Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds. Jimmy McLarnin, the only boxer to draw anything like a capacity house in the Garden during the winter, may be featured in a title bout with Jack Thompson if numerous obstacles to the fight are overcome, but the Garden will stage most of its bouts indoors and avoid paying high rental for the ball parks.

Indoor shows during the summer are a new departure for the Garden but present plans call for the continuation of "new talent" shows on Monday with regular programs each Thursday. The popular priced new talent shows are not expected to provide revenue but are designed to build up fighters for the feature shows.

Even the "feature" shows are adding little to the Garden's coffers. Thursday night's bout between Ben Jeby and Vince Dundee, leading middleweight title challengers, drew less than 5,000 spectators with the gate falling below the $15,000 mark.

Further proof that boxing fans are cured of their "boom day" hysteria and now demand outstanding attractions.

Amateur boxing also has been affected by the slump. The Metropolitan A. A. U. recently lost $3,000 on its guarantee of $18,000 for the four-day national champions and two international team matches with Italy barely paid expenses.

The New York Milk Fund which annually promotes an outstanding heavyweight bout is reported to be planning a Jack Sharkey-Mickey Walker contest next month. This bout and the Garden's proposed Carnera-Schmeling or Stribling contest will be the only important heavyweight battles of the summer in the New York area.

It ought to be easy to persuade a coxswain to talk, especially if he happens to be Jimmy Burke, the Springfield (Mass.) coxswain who steered Cornell's great varsity crew so efficiently to victory at Poughkeepsie last June.

Burke was brought up in a rowing atmosphere and was ripe for a job handling the tiller ropes when he went to Ithaca, where he now barks the orders, among others, to bald-headed, 31-year-old Peter J. McManus, who joined the Cornell navy after watching a dozen regattas from his farm on the Hudson highlands.

"Can this gang row?" remarked the pint-sized New England boy, with extra exclamation points. "Say, they couldn't race Harvard, Syracuse and M. I. T. Spring Day. We hoped to show the home boys and girls how we did it but we will be seeing you and rowing 'em all at Poughkeepsie again."

"You know, there's a lot of psychology in rowing, as well as just plain hard work for the fellows up there bending their backs. The great thing about this Cornell crew is that we all get along swell together. We kid each other and do a lot of talking during a race. No, I don't do all the talking, though I may be louder and sometimes funnier."

"Another thing: the fellows who think I splash water on Bob Wilson, the stroke because he's groggy are all wrong. Wilson's throat gets extremely dry once or twice during a race. Probably just because he is keyed up. Anyway, I splash him a little whenever he feels like a drink of water. That's all there is to it. Like the rest of this gang, he can row all day without much trouble."

FOUR CREWS UNDEFEATED—

For perhaps the first time in Poughkeepsie history, four undefeated crews will be at the starting line for the four-mile pull down Old Man River. Cornell, Syracuse, Columbia and Washington kept their slates clean at the shorter distances. All figure to be very much in the picture.

Wisconsin, without any preliminary test, will be a mystery contender. California and M. I. T., although defeated, may show to better advantage over the route. Navy and Pennsylvania must stage big come-backs to be serious factors.

YALE JUST A YAWN—

Perhaps young Mr. Burke had in mind the Yale editor's remark that Cornell's oarsmen were tired or exhausted or something after they outrowed the Elis on the Housatonic river for the first time in nine years.

It was Mr. Burke's idea that the Yale editor mistook Cornellian yawns at the finish for signs of distress.

OWNERS OF DOG TRACKS STARTING SUIT TO TEST LAW

Claim Horse Racing Now Holds Monopoly On Betting Rights

By J. C. LEARY

Chicago, June 6—(AP)—Whether betting on races can be legal in Illinois while the sun shines, and illegal by moonlight is to be tested in the courts by promoters of dog race tracks.

They have started four suits in Cook county courts to test the constitutionality of the law, declaring that horsemen should not hold a monopoly of the racing business under the law of 1927 which forbids operation of licensed pari-mutuel machines after sunset.

Through their attorneys, led by Edward J. O'Hare of St. Louis, who holds an interest which he was reported to have bought from "Scarface Al" Capone, the dog men charge that the sunset clause was inserted to bar whippet racing. They threaten if they are not allowed to operate, to pull down the law that makes horse racing profitable in the state.

There is no law against dog racing, but gambling is barred by the sunset clause, and canine races are held at night. As an indication of profits from betting on dog races, it was testified in the recent income tax evasion trial of Ralph Capone, brother of the Scarface, that a track in one season cleared $1,000,000.

Horse racing was at a standstill for many years in Illinois until 1927, because wagers were illegal. Then the state racing law was passed, allowing pari-mutuels to operate during daylight hours. It provided that a cut of 7 1-2 per cent from the pari-mutuel operations, along with the daily fees of $1,500 and $2,000 go to a state fund to supply cash prizes for the agricultural and stock exhibitions at county fairs.

This year, two dog tracks were opened and immediately raided, as was expected, for test cases. Some of the men arrested went before a Justice of the Peace court in Morton Grove, a suburb, where they were fined $100 each and immediately appealed.

Meanwhile attorneys filed a suit qui tam in Circuit Court, to recover $32,000 alleged to have been lost in bets at a horse racing track. The suit, an odd legal procedure, demands return of thrice the money named, with the state taking half the sum recovered. At the same time an assumpsit suit was filed in Superior Court asking recovery of $10,000 lost at another track.

Clinton Team Here For Game On Sunday

The Clinton base ball team, composed mostly of last year's Clinton Midways, will come to Dixon tomorrow to play the Independents at their field, Van Buren avenue and Seventh street. The Clinton team is a really fast organization and is enjoying a successful season, having lost but two close games this year. John McDonald, former Independent outfielder, is in the outer gardens for the Clintonites and is hitting well this year. Burns and Skelton will be the Dixon battery.

Greek Apollo, won that part of the world's heavyweight wrestling championship recognized in New York and Pennsylvania by flopping Dick Shikat, the German titleholder, in a one-fall match in Philadelphia. Londos pinned Shikat in one hour and 23 minutes.

Five Years Ago Today—Chairman James A. Farley of the New York State Boxing Commission declared he would resign from the commission if that body didn't vote to make Dempsey give Harry Wills a chance at the championship. (Farley is still chairman; Dempsey never fought Wills.)

Ten Years Ago Today—Benny Leonard, world's lightweight boxing champion, successfully defended his crown against Rock Kansas of Buffalo in a 12 round fight. Leonard won in nine rounds.

Weekly Sermonette

By REV. LLOYD WARREN WALTER
Pastor St. Paul's Lutheran Church

Ephesians 1. 18, 19a.

Having the eyes of your heart enlightened, that ye may know What is the hope of your calling, What the riches of the glory of His inheritance in the saints, and What the exceeding greatness of His power.

ENLIGHTENED EYES

There are people who have eyes and donot see. Some do not want to see and others cannot. Here we have a prayer that we, especially who are believers should have our eyes enlightened,—the eyes of our heart for three reasons:

I—THE HOPE OF HIS CALLING.

When Jesus called the first disciples by the shore of the Galilean sea they were not clear what they might expect. They did not fully understand what the call implied.

After these centuries of accumulated evidence and the Holy Spirits guidance in christian life the call of Jesus should be clear to us. We should know what we may certainly look for. To us the hope of His calling is—

1. Cleansing of guilt and sin; the relief of destroying poisons, and the unloosening of burdens of dead weight; in their place, blessings and honor and peace in this life and

2. Being sure of a Pilot when we cross the bar to the next life.

That we may know—

II—THE RICHES OF THE GLORY OF HIS INHERITANCE.

a. One may be rich in lands, in houses, in cattle, in bonds, in coal, in oil, in gold, in diamonds; whoever heard of a man being rich in glory!

b. Jesus is rich in the glory of His inheritance in the saints—the believers. He is rich in the lives of His saints. They are His by possession; not by compulsion except the compulsion of love.

c. They come to Him by choice as a sort of inheritance. They choose the reconciliation. He has made. One is rich indeed who has the love and esteem of men.

His calling implies our knowledge that we may know something of the riches of the Lord's Kingdom in its far flung line and of the riches of His possession in the lives of the innumerable host of men and women and children in all the ages.

That we may know—

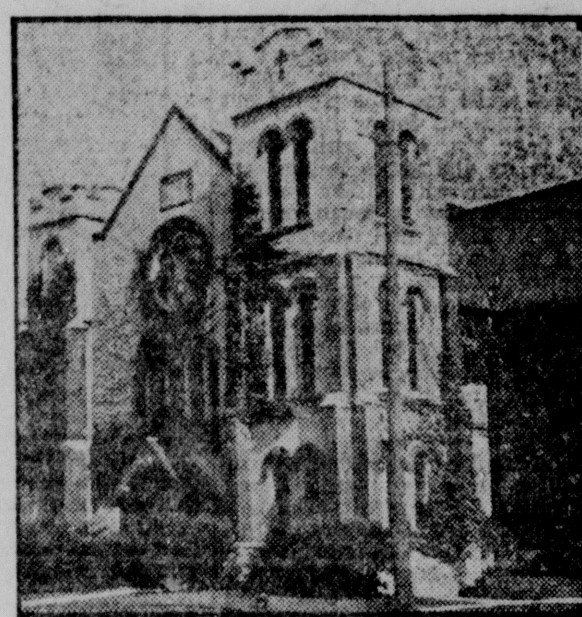

III—THE EXCEEDING GREATNESS OF HIS POWER.

Nothing is said—need be said of His power in creation, but we have seen what God did with Jesus in His Crucifixion; who in the presence of defeat and failure brought a tremendous reversal of that defeat in the resurrection of Jesus from the dead. The resurrection is a sure pledge of God that righteousness and truth and mercy and justice shall not be defeated. It is a sure pledge that we in whom the Spirit of God abides may know of our redemption and resurrection from the dead.

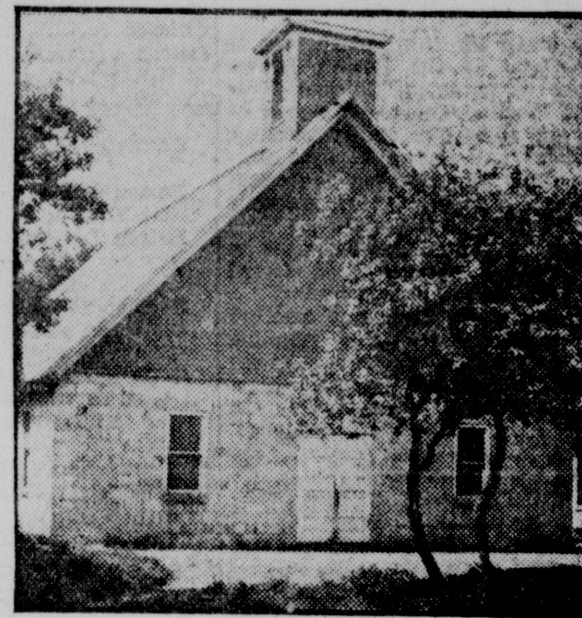

"If God be for us who can be against us?" To ask the question is to answer it.

The power of God to make a defeat the victory and redemption of the world is for the eyes of our heart to see.—May they be enlightened.

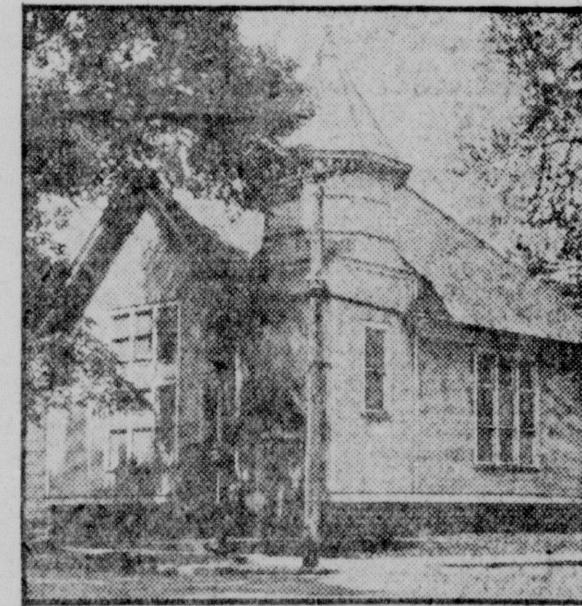

How unafraid and strong and certain believers should be! How we should be built up in faith and hope as we daily go to school with God; having the eyes of our understanding enlightened!

DEL RIO AND SWANSON CHOSEN BY BEAUTY JUDGES

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of four stories on "The Six Most Beautiful Women of the Talkies" selected for NEA Service and The Evening Telegraph by a board of beauty judges composed of six famous directors.

By DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Writer

Hollywood—Just a few years ago a young and lovely Mexican girl arrived in Hollywood to embark on a film career.

Fifteen years ago, or thereabouts, a vivacious Mack Sennett bathing beauty was just getting her start in the movies.

Today, in a strange combination of youth and experience, these two famous actresses are among the choices of six noted directors as "The Six Most Beautiful Women of the Talkies." Each is given equal honor.

Of course, you have already guessed the name of the first one—Dolores Del Rio. And now I shall tell you the name of the second—Gloria Swanson.

Del Rio and Swanson now join Marlene Dietrich and Frances Dee as the screen's most beautiful women in the estimation of the six movie directors who are acting as judges for NEA Service and The Evening Telegraph. They are Mack Sennett, Josef von Sternberg, Allan Dwan, George Fitzmaurice, Mervyn LeRoy and Edward Sutherland.

Tomorrow the names of the two remaining beauties will be revealed. Dolores' entrance into the pictures was one of the most interesting ever made by a screen newcomer. Brought up in exclusive circles in Mexico City, she received her first film offer from Edwin Carver when he and his wife, Mary Akin, and Bert Lytell and Claire Windsor went to the Mexican capital to participate in a double marriage.

But Dolores' parents had heard about "wild" Hollywood and would not permit her to come here until after her husband, Jaime Del Rio, visited here and decided that the town would be safe for her. That perhaps was a bad report for Jaime to make as it was the beginning of the end of their marital happiness. Dolores soared quickly to stardom and then divorced Jaime. Now she is married again, this time to Cedric Gibbons, fashion expert at the M-G-M studios.

The Mexican beauty's career has been anything but a smooth one. Her success after arriving in Hollywood was almost instantaneous. Upon which she had been placed was almost as rapid. Dolores' trouble was too much of the same thing. The same type of pictures which carried her to the top also carried her back down again. Her productions ceased to make money. Then she became seriously ill and was forced to retire for nearly a year.

Dainty Young Mexican Star and Former Mack Sennett Bathing Beauty of 15 Years Ago Are Named As Among Screen's Prettiest Today

IS THERE ANY WONDER THAT THE JUDGES CHOOSE THEM? At the right is DOLORES DEL RIO who's olive-tinted skin, jet-black hair and deep-brown eyes make this dainty Mexican senorita one of the screen's biggest attractions. . . . At the left, GLORIA SWANSON, who has dark-brown hair and large blue eyes and has probably the smallest foot in Hollywood, wearing a size 1½ shoe!

In good health again now, however, and more beautiful than ever, Dolores is starting her comeback.

And now for Gloria Swanson. It seems rather needless to describe Miss Swanson's beauty. For the past 15 years her face and figure have been seen by millions of movie fans.

Back in the days when she and the movies were much younger, the glorious Gloria blossomed forth as a Mack Sennett bathing beauty. With her were numerous other girls just getting their start in pictures. Many made good—but none could quite maintain the pace set by their leader. With the exception of Charlie Chaplin, no other player from the old Sennett lot ever has achieved and held the fame that is Gloria's.

With all her beauty, Gloria has a good business head. There was a time when she was the highest salaried player in motion pictures. Then she made the one mistake of her career. Her contract with Paramount was expiring. Executives offered her a new one calling for a salary of $17,500 weekly. Miss Swanson turned it down. She wanted to produce her own pictures—be her own boss.

That mistake proved rather costly. Prior to that time she was considered wealthy. But gold just naturally evaporates when it is sunk in motion pictures that aren't boxoffice hits—and some of Gloria's weren't. She seems to be back on her feet all right now, however, thanks to "The Trespasser," which made plenty of money and re-established its star as a definite attraction at the talking picture box-office.

Miss Swanson has only one rule in life. That is her absolute decision to keep her children out of the public eye. They are hers and hers alone and she intends to keep them as such.

That's the story of Gloria Swanson—minus her three unsuccessful marriages to Wallace Beery, Herbert Sornborn and Marquis Henri de la Falaise.

Monday, the two remaining beauties will be revealed—One is acclaimed as "the best feminine singer in the talkies."—The other is a former star of the legitimate stage for whose services Hollywood movieproducers vied with each other—Can you guess their names?

BROTHER OF MRS. DIMMICK BURNED TO DEATH MAY 30

Bonniers Ferry, Montana
Paper Tells Of Tragedy On His Farm

The following from the Bonniers Ferry, Mont., Weekly Herald tells of the tragic death of Clyde M. Eberhart, brother of Mrs. Fred Dimmick of this city, which was briefly mentioned in the Telegraph when Mrs. Dimmick received the terse message announcing his death:

Clyde M. Eberhart, 52, was burned to death about 1:30 o'clock Saturday morning when lightning set fire to the Eberhart home, located just across the Idaho-Montana line near Leona, and about 28 miles east of Bonniers Ferry. Louis V. Eberhart, a brother, was severely burned about the face, head and hands in a futile attempt to rescue Clyde. Their mother, Mrs. George Eberhart, 80, was uninjured.

Members of the family were asleep in the house when the bolt struck. They were compelled to leave hastily in their night clothes. The two men returned to the house in an attempt to save some of their belongings.

Louis was able to bring out some of his possessions and two heavy Hudson Bay blankets. Clyde also saved some of his clothing and then decided to return to his bedroom to secure some valuable papers. As he opened the bedroom door he was met by a blast of flame and fell. Louis rushed toward him, but was driven back by the flames. He was burned so severely that it was necessary for him to have a doctor dress his head and hands.

While in town Saturday Louis related details of the fire.

"I heard the crash distinctly," he said. "It was not so loud, but very sharp—more like a light field piece. At first I thought it had missed the house, but in a few moments I realized the wall paper in the corner near the radio wires was on fire. We tried to put the flames out, but could make no headway and finally Clyde said, 'We'll have to give it up; the house is going,' and then we picked up what we found handy and went outside. We returned again and I brought out some of my clothes and the blankets, and a new gun, which I was setting near the door. These I threw on the porch. About that time Clyde said he was going to his room to get his papers. When he opened the door, I saw a flash of flame, and he fell with a sharp cry. I tried to go to him, but couldn't make it."

Clyde M. Eberhart was born in Cedar Falls, Ia., August 19, 1879. He came to Idaho in 1902 and for a time worked in the Coeur d'Alene mining district. Later he was employed as a salesman for the National Biscuit company and also was with the Pacific Coast Biscuit company for some time. About 13 years ago he gave up his position as salesman and joined his mother and brother at their farm home near Leona, where he has since resided. He was well known in Bonniers Ferry, having visited here frequently. Besides his mother and brother he leaves a sister, Mrs. Fred Dimmick, who resides at Dixon, Ill.

The body was taken from the ruins of the home Sunday and on Monday a memorial service in honor of the deceased was held at the D. L. Coats home, not far from the Eberhart farm. Tuesday the body was shipped to Spokane, where funeral services were held from Smith & Company's funeral parlors Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment was in Fairmont cemetery. The Eberhart family have resided in the Leona district for nearly 30 years, and are well known throughout the eastern end of the county and in Bonniers Ferry, as well as in Troy and Libby, Mont. Their many friends join in extending sincere sympathy to Mrs. Eberhart and her son in the double loss of their home and their kin.

Poison Booze Was Cause Of Fatality

Havana, Ill., June 5.—(UP)—A coroner's jury, investigating the death near Mason City, not far from here, of W. C. Hannah, 35, Tunyon, Okla., was on record today as declaring that it was due to his drinking alcohol poison rather than that he had been slain by holdup men.

The verdict was returned here last night after Coroner E. H. Niederer had examined half a dozen witnesses, including two doctors who performed an autopsy on the body before it was shipped to Tunyon.

Both Drs. W. M. Caton and C. W. Cargill declared it their belief that Hannah's death was due to poison alcohol, bruises on his hands and face, they said, being caused by his falling as he walked over a cinder road, where his body was found.

Kirkland Sentence Rehearing Delayed

Valparaiso, Ind., June 5.—(AP)—The hearing on the sentence of Virgil Kirkland was reset by Judge Grant Crumpacker today for Tuesday morning. Another case appears on his docket Monday, when he had planned to listen to arguments that Kirkland should have received more than a one-to-ten-year sentence for his conviction of assault on a battery with intent to commit rape.

By RICHARD MASSOCK
New York—That self-effacing novelist who signs herself "Elizabeth" has produced another story for what must be a considerable number of romantic minded readers.

It is called "Father," although it has to do principally with the love story of a dutiful daughter.

And although it works out to happy endings for all, it is not as sugary as that somehow sounds, thanks to the author of "The Enchanted April," which had a sizeable success several seasons ago.

For with all its romance there is humor and a bit of refreshing realism. Women, I suspect, will love it.

BREAKING FAMILY TIES.
Father was a distinguished novelist, Richard Dodge, a widower whose secretary was his plain and patient daughter, Jennifer.

Jennifer was 33 and about resigned to the old maid role when father upped and married a frail young thing. He anticipated antagonism on his daughter's part, but she was elated. For now she could be "free."

While father was on his honeymoon, Jennifer went looking for a cottage of her own. And found one—a straw-thatched one, belonging to a shy young country vicar, the Rev. James Ollier.

The clergyman lived with his spinster sister, who ruled his timid soul. The first night of Jennifer's tenancy in the cottage he was calling on her when the sister appeared. The sister's watchful care. Avoiding her in the dark, he embraced Jen for a moment. It was the first time she had been kissed.

From that point Elizabeth unfolds the romance. Alice, the vicar's sister, selfishly takes him away to Switzerland. There he finally asserts his independence and flees back to Jennifer. She meanwhile has left the cottage. Father's young bride had deserted him and he had come to remind Jen of her duty to remain with him.

But James finds Jennifer. And his escape from his sister is completely effected by a sudden romance of her own.

AS FRENCHMAN SEES US—
Georges Duhamel, a Frenchman, came to look at America and went home to write a devastating criticism. His book, "Scenes de la Vie Future," now has been translated into English, under the title "America the Menace."

Perhaps it was meant to be a criticism to end all criticisms of America, for M. Duhamel found virtually everything over here abhorrent. Even the publishers are rather apologetic, issuing the book, they state, "not because we subscribe to the indictment, but as vivid, first hand evidence of the nightmare version of America so popular in present day Europe."

The author says we live like insects, grasping and plundering. As an example of his impression of America, he says that here the shirts will not survive two launderings, shoes must be thrown away the minute a hole appears because they are not worth cobbling and the ready-made overcoat "is worn out in a winter and has to be replaced."

Our speed, jazz and general opulence, in his estimation, threaten old world civilization with the rude evils of standardization.

MODERN FARMER'S SPIRIT AKIN TO G. WASHINGTON'S

Secretary Hyde Tells Of Certain Plow Mentioned In His Diary

"The modern farmer, who is always trying new farm methods, can certainly claim kinship of spirit with George Washington," Secretary of Agriculture Hyde remarked with conviction.

The Secretary had been consulted by a representative of the Division of Information and Publication of the United States Geological Survey, for light on the workings of a certain plow which Washington mentions in his Diaries as of his own invention. The query had set Secretary Hyde to a new reading of Washington's journals and correspondence, with the result of convincing him that scientific research in agriculture had a firm friend and constant practitioner in the Nation's first President.

"Washington," said Secretary Hyde, "was apparently moved to experiment on the battle acres partly because of dissatisfaction with farm practice then prevailing, and partly because he wanted to so farm his lands as to leave them in better shape than when he acquired them. I find that in 1786 he wrote to Arthur Young, editor of the English Annals of Agriculture, as follows:

"The system of agriculture, if it deserves the epithet of system, which is in use in this part of the United States, is as unproductive to the practitioners as it is ruinous to landholders. Yet it is pertinaciously adhered to. To forsake it, to pursue a course of husbandry, which is altogether different, and new to the gazing multitude, ever averse to novelty in matters of this sort, and much attached to the customs of their forefathers, requires resolution, and, without a good practical guide, may be dangerous; because, of the many volumes which have been written on this subject, few have been founded on experimental knowledge; are verbose, contradictory, and bewildering. Your Annals, therefore, shall be this guide."

"Feeling as he did," Secretary Hyde continued, "and having no State or Federal agricultural research bodies to turn to, Washington conducted his own research, with his own farm and laboratory. What he wanted to know about this or that new crop of machine or cultural method, he had to find out mainly for himself. From the Annals, and from a few other such sources, Washington derived many suggestions, but he accepted them with reservations, subject to actual test on his own farm.

"Thus we find him, in the fall of 1764, sowing 'a few oats to see if they would stand the winter, and finding, of course that they wouldn't.' He made many experiments with Lucerne—which we call alfalfa. He tried winter wheat and barley and spelt. He attempted to utilize marle, mud from the river bottoms, and composts of various sorts, as fertilizer.

Plows Held Attention
"But plows especially drew his attention, for the plows of Washington's day were cumbersome, inefficient, and altogether exasperating. In March, 1760, Washington jotted down, for example, 'Fitted a two Eyed Plow instead of a Duck Bill Plow.' But this new model was on the whole a failure, so a little later we find him recording, 'Spent the greater part of the day in making a plow of my own invention.' The next day he tried the plow 'and found she answered very well.'

"But a greater difficulty for Washington," Secretary Hyde went on, "was finding a machine to do what the modern grain drill does at planting time. Washington finally developed, evidently from hints gathered from his reading and correspondence with Arthur Young and others what he called a barrel plow. 'At that time all grain seed had to be sown by hand, then covered with a harrow or a hoe. Washington wanted a machine for this purpose, both to save labor and to do the job more efficiently. His barrel plow consisted of a hollow cylinder of wood, mounted on a wheel plow 'so arranged that as the plow moved forward the barrel turned. In this barrel Washington cut holes for the seed to run down the tubes into the ground. The thickness or thinning of the sowing he could determine roughly, by the number of holes left open in the barrel.

"Much experiment with this crude drill convinced Washington that it was necessary to make these holes larger on the outside than on the inside of the barrel, and that the barrel worked better if not kept too full of seed. A harrow followed the drill, to cover the seed with soil. 'The drill must have worked fairly well,' Secretary Hyde smiled as he called up the picture of Washington's 'own invention,' even though at times it must have acted up and prompted the operator to indulge in a few expletives. Washington wrote to a friend that the drill would not 'work to good effect in land that is very full of either stumps, stones, or large clods; but, where the ground is tolerably free from these and in good till, and particularly in light land, I am certain you will find it equal to your most sanguine expectations, for Indian corn, wheat, barley, pease, or any other tolerably round grain, that you may wish to sow or plant in this manner.'

"Though the modern farmer knows many things that Washington could not know," Secretary Hyde ended, "A rereading of his life and experiments as a farmer must be of constant interest and inspiration."

EXCESS MEN IN GERMANY BY '45 STATISTICS SAY

Present Preponderance of Women Expected to Be Reversed

By FREDERICK KUH
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
BERLIN (UP)—Germany, now known as the bachelor's paradise owing to its enormous surplus of women, may be transformed into the Eldorado of spinsters by 1945, when for the first time on record the number of marriageable men is expected to exceed that of women.

This is the significance of dry-as-dust statistics, recently published by the Government Bureau of Statistics. An expert, Dr. George Neuhaus of Neuhaus of Bonn, in an article contributed to the "Koelnische Zeitung," has interpreted these official figures and extracted from them the glad tidings for "maiden aunts" of the rising generation.

Excess Women in 1925
There were 2,329,000 more German women than men of marriageable age in 1925. By 1945 this discrepancy will not only be wiped out, but the tables will be turned and Germany will harbor 46,000 more marriageable men than women. That, however, will merely be a modest beginning. Within an additional 15 years the prospects for husband-seeking women will have improved vastly, for in 1960 there will be 1,085,000 more marriageable men than women among Germany's inhabitants.

Every national census in Germany revealed a vast surplus of women, despite the fact that more than 105 boys were born to every 100 girl. The preponderance of German women over men has been due to the higher mortality rate among males and to the great streams of emigration among venturesome German youths and men.

Up to the age of 20, boys remained more numerous than girls; but it has been at this age that a higher male death-rate set in and emigration undoubtedly on a large scale, so that the same token, business success comes more quickly and in larger volume to the merchant who adopts a liberal newspaper advertising policy, stocks the goods the public will buy and follows the golden rule of truth in advertising."

is given as 15 to 45 for women and 18 to 48 for men, the lower limit being fixed by law, the higher age being based on custom.

Situation Changing
The result of this entire shift, as indicated, is that the chances of marriage for women are improving rapidly, as the number of males and females in Germany's population is tending to balance and ultimately result in a large excess of men over women.

The past year ended with a 2,022,000 excess of marriageable women over men; but this number, according to official statisticians, will fall to 315,000 by 1935 and be transmuted into a 46,000 surplus of marriageable men in 1945. By 1955, there will be 626,000 and by 1960, 1,085,000 more marriageable men than women, this number probably declining to 481,000 by 1980 and to 359,000 in the year 2000.

B. E. Warren, editor of the Nashua (N. H.) Telegraph, says:

"Free wheeling may be all right for automobiles and pleasure, but no business can be maintained at a successful pace with the advertising clutch disengaged."

For more than thirty years in this community I have never known a firm to fail that had used newspaper advertising consistently and intelligently. I have noted many failures directly traceable to a business policy that excluded newspaper advertising.

"People read the home town newspaper both for the news and the advertising. Both must be interesting. The well balanced home town newspaper has been, and will continue to be, the most important development factor to the home town merchant."

"Fish are frequently caught by occasionally dragging a line through the water, but the best strings invariably come to the lures of the consistent and persistent angler. By the same token, business success comes more quickly and in larger volume to the merchant who adopts a liberal newspaper advertising policy, stocks the goods the public will buy and follows the golden rule of truth in advertising."

Memorial Day Program Good Although the rain in the morning kept some of the crowd from coming to our town for the Memorial Day exercises, still considering everything there was a very good attendance.

The procession formed at the Presbyterian church, headed by the local American Legion Post, then the band, Sons of Veterans, children and leaders marched to the cemetery for the decoration of the graves, George W. Ling, the only Civil War veteran in this community was taken to the cemetery in an auto driven by Fred Kipler, a veteran of the World War.

After the services at the cemetery the line of march was again formed and proceeded to the Camp grounds for further exercises. The Franklin Grove Band played a selection and much praise is heard from all concerning our home band, we are all justly proud of our band. A vocal solo by Miss June Conlon was very well rendered. The mixed chorus numbers and the Boys Glee Club were features of the program and were highly appreciated. The reading by Miss Caroline Baitley as usual was very enjoyable.

The main feature of the program was the address by Martin V. Peterman, States Attorney of Ogle County, the fact that Mr. Peterman was born in this town and graduated from the local high school made all more anxious to hear him. He is President of the Illinois State's Attorney Association, which position carries considerable honor and responsibility. The base solo by Donald Zoeller is spoken of very highly.

The Committee on Arrangements, is to be congratulated on having been able to secure our own home talent, none better to be found anywhere than right here in our community, and they should be used. The playing of the national anthem, by the band closed the afternoon program.
